Next Practices Human Resources Strategy 2015- ONE Organizational Mindset

Are all of your employees truly making a connection to the marketplace? Are they creatively thinking to solve important business problems? CEOs don't just want this; they expect it. Human resources is the one function that can best handle and lead this initiative, but how?

- (1) Improved methods to align your company to projects of highest value (from boardroom to loading dock)
- (2) The "One Company" method: How to create world beating customer experiences- by making disparate parts of the company work better together;
- (3) How to create a team of "collaborators" vs. individual contributors
- (4) Case studies of "next practice" alignment methods and ROI
- (5) Make your business case to executives for HR resources and strategic initiatives
- (6) Practical steps and techniques to move your HR and Executive team forward using a 100 days launch approach
